Duel VR has been in development by our team at Volfox Studios for over a year. Our aim is to bring VR shooters to the exciting world of online multiplayer, so we've worked hard to create a fun and engaging experience with a great focus on physics. Our team are all VR enthusiasts, so we have a deep understanding of VR gameplay, animations, physics and user interface. We've fought through the development process together to ensure that Duel VR is 'Made For VR' and will be playable on Day 1 of Daydream. Duel VR is currently in Beta on the Google Play Store. We'll be busy upgrading the game to be ready for Day 1 of Daydream. Find out more here: About Volfox Studios: Volfox Studios is the team behind the critically acclaimed online shooter, Number Deleted. The game won many "Best VR Games 2015" awards, including Best VR Game on Google

Play and Best Indie Game on Google Play. Volfox are also known for creating the online Twitch experiences #JamOnIt and #JamOnIt2. Volfox Studios were chosen by VRFocus as a “Best Developer for VR” in 2014 and were shortlisted for the IGN Best of E3 awards. Key Features:

- Duel VR is the first VR shooter that features both competitive and cooperative multiplayer.
- Solo challenges are also available. These challenges won't feature people but will require you to hone your skills to the highest level.
- There are 8 different VR characters for you to choose from, each with their own unique equipment and gameplay.
- Push boundaries of what a VR game should be. There are unique gameplay elements that will be unachievable in other shooters.
- Physics that react to your actions and the environment. Shards fly in all directions, exploding barrels split, bones are broken and you can even shatter bottles with your bare hands.
- A great soundtrack featuring many folks including Endless Gears. You'll know what to expect if you've played Endless Gears.
- The best location possible for VR shooters, The Grind, is now a fully featured competition arena. The fight between Oculus and Vive has finished and Oculus have taken ownership of all Valve content. This means Duel VR will be available on Day 1 of Daydream.
- Challenge your friends on our growing online leader

Comments: So Jeff Sessions is defending the morality of the Trump administration on national TV and declaring that the NFL is not a place of freedom of speech, but the White House has just taken a stance on LGBT rights. From the Trump White House, the White House press release: "Defending basic American values, defending the principle of free speech and a free exchange of ideas, defending the free press."—Press Secretary Sean Spicer, announcing the new stance on October 11. Spicer then pointedly refused to answer a question about whether the White House would continue defending a pro-discrimination law in North Carolina. Oh, that part didn't work out so well. By the way, think about how far we're going to decline into miscegenation in this world. Hey, at least in the white house, heterosexual sex has been declared a basic American value. And failing to protect LGBT rights is, of course, yet another basic value. Our great leader is, after all, a nationalist. [And notice how many get it wrong by saying that "Trump has been urging NFL owners

What's new:

Unium is a chemical element with the symbol U and atomic number 109. It was first discovered by Wilhelm Nicolaus Gottlob Kugelüber in 1803 and first described in 1835. It is the heaviest element to be reliably identified in nature, with a single confirmed occurrence in meteorites originating from the asteroid 4 Vesta. Unium is an isotope of uranium, ²³⁸U (99.2899%), with a half-life of 64,050 years. Its electronic structure differs from that of the other uranium isotopes: the atomic nucleus consists of a proton and two neutrons, and the ground state is spherical. Its chemical properties make it a candidate for superheavy elements with atomic numbers in the range 117-124, with mass range of 287-293. The discovery of the magic numbers in this region is an open research problem. It is not known whether ununium can be made in the laboratory, but isotopes ununium-triuranium (293) and ununium-uranium-205 (307) have been predicted. History Wilhelm Nicolaus Gottlob Kugelüber discovered ununium in the substance burned by heating up a platinum sample. He called his new element ununium in honour of the Odic force (also the Latin element ununo, containing the same initial sound, the "consonant medially closed"), but he did not know that was already in use for the name Uranium. Before 1833, Gregor Mendel named the elements and their isotopes after foreign-looking continents and islands without any knowledge of the chemical names of the elements. After Kugelüber's discovery, was introduced and the name ununo was replaced by the new name Uranium. John Newlands in the 1820s coined the English name "uranium". In a German translation of Untersuchungen über die Fäulnis Substanz vom Uhrnektarstoffe (Researches into the rutil compound of Uenodite), the compound was found to have the composition $U_xV_yO_z$ ($I: x = 10.7; y = 21.5; z = 68.3$). When the paper was published in 1838 in the proceedings of the Berlin Academy of Sciences, the title was changed to Über den Uhrnektarstoff
